

UKLA information regarding attending the conference and coronavirus (COVID–19)

The following resources are being updated regularly with timely information:

- A live-tracker of the spread of the disease from Johns Hopkins University.
- The latest updates from the WHO on the virus.
- WHO's recommendations for the public to reduce exposure.
- The Center for Disease Control's (CDC) recommendations for traveling.
- WHO's event planning guide with recommendations for those planning large events.
- A Joint Statement on Tourism and COVID-19 - UNWTO and WHO Call for Responsibility and Coordination.
- WHO's rolling updates on coronavirus disease (COVID-19).
- The CDC's interim guidance for planning mass gatherings or large community events.

In the near-term, UKLA is taking the following measures:

- We are monitoring for changes in recommendations about events and travel, and following guidance from health and government offices.
- Sharing recommendations on how to stay healthy, such as these social media resources from the WHO. These are standard recommendations for the general public to reduce exposure and transmission of a range of illnesses.
- Advising our delegates to anticipate travel delays for airport screenings and flight and/or registration cancellations from affected areas.
- Monitoring government travel notices for additional information which will be provided on our website.
- Preparing a communication plan to keep participants and partners informed, especially in the case of an event postponement.
- Devising proposals for alternative provision of the conference programme should the situation worsen.
